My first watch

Calypso Junior Collection:
Learning to tell the time is like a game!

Learning the hours and understanding the value of time are very important lessons in a child's development. My first Watch is the new collection of Calypso watches designed to teach the new generations to distinguish seconds, minutes and hours, and to read the time with the hands in an easy, fun and intuitive way.

The children will be fascinated by this new series of watches: cheerful, colourful and with many different proposals, the My First Watch collection is perfect for use at school, at the park and during sports activities. Resistant and waterproof, the Calypso watches from the My First Watch collection are designed to accompany children in their daily dynamic activity.

The girls will fall in love with the Calypso line from the My First Watch K5824 collection, which has six attractive proposals in the range, from white, through the softest colours to the most vivid, including a series of shades such as pink, lilac, light blue, blue and red. With a 27 mm stainless steel case, ergonomically designed for a smaller wrist, and a rubber strap embellished with contrasting graphics, these new timepieces show that it's possible to be punctual as well as fashionable. The dial is very easy to read thanks to the minute and hour display in digits in 12 and 24 hour format.

The Calypso proposals from the My First Watch K5825, K5826 and K5827 collection have a colour-coded reading system and all the elements needed to help children to learn: on some of the new watches, the hands are marked with different colours and the words 'hour' and 'minute' also show; an intuitive system that prevents the child from confusing them. And also, to explain to the little globetrotters how to read the time in English, the dial includes the indications to, past, and half.

WATCHES

My First Watch K5825 (unisex collection) and K5826 (women's collection) have a 29.80 mm and 29 mm stainless steel case, respectively. Both models have a solid colour rubber wrist strap, in six beautiful colour options. Delicately feminine, the K5827 collection features a polycarbonate case available in different colour combinations that offer playful compositions between bezel and strap, all very feminine.

Water resistant to 5 ATM, the Calypso models from the My First Watch K5824, K5825, K5826 and K5827 collection will accompany children throughout their day: in the rain, in the shower or while swimming in the pool.

Designed for older children's adventures, the colourful Calypso collections in the My First Watch Collection K5828 for him and K5829 for her have a polycarbonate case, measuring 36 mm and 31.9 mm, respectively, with a graduated bezel that adds another concept of time to simply reading the watch. Thanks to water resistance of up to 10 ATM, these watches can also be worn for diving and snorkelling.

Calypso from My First Watch is a collection for young and old, a special gift to teach the value of time so that children can tell on their own when it's time to go to eat, go out for recess or go home.

Each Calypso watch from the My First Watch collection is presented in an original transparent case with coloured details that convey the energy needed to learn to tell the time.
